

SOUTHWEST BEHAVIORAL HEALTH CENTER

Notice of Privacy Practices

Effective April 14, 2003; Updated September 25, 2019

Your Information Your Rights Your Responsibilities

This notice describes how medical information about you may be used and disclosed and how you can get access to this information. Please review it carefully.

Your Rights

You have a right to:

- ◆ Get a copy of your paper or electronic medical record
- ◆ Correct your paper or electronic medical record
- ◆ Request confidential communication
- ◆ Ask us to limit the information we share
- ◆ Get a list of those with whom we've shared your information
- ◆ Get a copy of this privacy notice
- ◆ Choose someone to act for you
- ◆ File a complaint if you believe your privacy rights have been violated

▶ See Page 2 for more information on these rights and how to exercise them

Your Choices

You have some choices in the way that we use and share information as we:

- ◆ Tell family and friends about your condition
- ◆ Provide disaster relief
- ◆ Provide mental health care
- ◆ Share records of treatment in an addiction-treatment program (these disclosures must follow federal confidentiality laws and regulations [42CFR] which may be more restrictive than those outlined in this notice)

▶ See Page 3 for more information on these choices and how to exercise them

Our Uses and Disclosures

We may use and share your information as we:

- ◆ Treat you
- ◆ Run our organization
- ◆ Bill for your services
- ◆ Help with public health and safety issues
- ◆ Comply with the law
- ◆ Work with a medical examiner or funeral director
- ◆ Address workers' compensation, law enforcement and other government requests
- ◆ Respond to lawsuits and legal actions

▶ See Pages 3 & 4 for more information on these uses and disclosures

Your Rights

When it comes to your health information, you have certain rights.

This section explains your rights and some of our responsibilities to help you.

Get an electronic or paper copy of your medical record

- You can ask to see or get an electronic or paper copy of your medical record and other health information we have about you. Ask us how to do this.
- We will provide a copy or a summary of your health information, usually within 30 days of your request. We may charge a reasonable, cost-based fee.

Ask us to correct your medical record

- You can ask us to correct health information about you that you think is incorrect or incomplete. Ask us how to do this.
- We may say “no” to your request, but we’ll tell you why in writing within 60 days.

Request confidential communications

- You can ask us to contact you in a specific way (for example, home or office phone) or to send mail to a different address).
- We will say “yes” to all reasonable requests.

Ask us to limit what we use or share

- You can ask us not to use or share certain health information for treatment, payment, or our operations. We are not required to agree to your request, and we may say “no” if it would affect your care.
- If you pay for a service or health care item out-of-pocket in full, you can ask us not to share that information for the purpose of payment or our operations with your health insurer. We will say “yes” unless a law requires us to share that information.

Get a list of those with whom we’ve shared information

- You can ask for a list (accounting) of the times we’ve shared your health information for six years prior to the date you ask, who we shared it with, and why.
- We will include all the disclosures except for those about treatment, payment, and health care operations, and certain other disclosures (such as any you asked us to make). We will provide one accounting a year for free, but will charge a reasonable, cost-based fee if you ask for another one within 12 months.

Get a copy of this privacy notice

- You can ask for a paper copy of this notice at any time, even if you have agreed to receive the notice electronically. We will provide you with a paper copy promptly.

Choose someone to act for you

- If you have given someone medical power of attorney or if someone is your legal guardian, that person can exercise your right and make choices about your health information.
- We will make sure the person has this authority and can act for you before we take any action.

File a complaint if you feel your rights are violated

- You can complain if you feel we have violated your rights by contacting us using the information on page 4.
- You can file a complaint with the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services Office for Civil Rights by sending a letter to 200 Independence Avenue, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20201, calling 1-877-696-6775, or visiting www.hhs.gov/ocr/privacy/hipaa/complaints/.
- We will not retaliate against you for filing a complaint.

Your Choices

For certain health information, you can tell us your choices about what we share. If you have a clear preference for how we share your information in the situations described below, talk to us. Tell us what you want us to do and we will follow your instructions.

In these cases, you have both the right and the choice to tell us to:

- Share information with your family, close friends, or others involved in your care
- Share information in a disaster relief situation
If you are not able to tell us your preference, for example if you are unconscious, we may go ahead and share your information if we believe it is in your best interest. We may also share your information when needed to lessen a serious and imminent threat to health or safety.

Our Uses and Disclosures

How do we typically use or share your health information? We typically use or share your health information in the following ways:

- Treat you
 - We can use your health information and share it with other professionals who are treating you.
Example: We may need to disclose information to members of the treatment team or other health care providers who are responsible for planning and coordinating your care.
- Run our organization
 - We can use and share your health information to run our practice, improve your care, and contact you when necessary.
Example: We use health information about you to manage your treatment and services.
- Bill for services
 - We can use and share your health information to bill and get payment from health plans or other entities.
Example: We give information about you to your health insurance plan so it will pay for your services.

How else can we use or share your health information?

We are allowed or required to share your information in other ways—usually in ways that contribute to the public good, such as public health and research. We have to meet many conditions in the law before we can share your information for these purposes. For more information, see: www.hhs.gov/ocr/privacy/hipaa/understanding/consumers/index.html.

- Help with public health and safety issues
 - We can share health information about you for certain situations such as:
 - ◆ Preventing disease
 - ◆ Helping with product recalls
 - ◆ Reporting adverse reactions to medications
 - ◆ Reporting suspected abuse, neglect, or domestic violence
 - ◆ Preventing or reducing a serious threat to anyone's health or safety
- Do research
 - We can use or share your information for health research.
- Comply with the law
 - We will share information about you if state or federal laws require it, including with the Department of Health and Human Services if it wants to see that we're complying with federal privacy law.
